LIONS CLUB

1954-1955

YEARBOOK

THE LIONS' CODE OF ETHICS

1. To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

2. To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

3. To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

4. Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

5. To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

6. Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them any unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

7. To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

8. To be careful with my criticism and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

LIONS CLUB

1954-1955

YEARBOOK

YOUR LIONS CLUB

In 1914, Melvin Jones, a successful Chicago insurance agent, started upon a plan to organize local business men's clubs into an international group for the primary purpose of community service. Lions International was then formally founded in 1917 by Melvin Jones, and their first annual convention was held in Dallas, Texas, that year with about twenty-five clubs attending. Today we boast of being the largest service club, operating in 58 different countries, or geographical locations, with a membership in excess of 498,000.

The membership is entirely by invitation and drawn from the community's leading business and professional men. Lions Clubs are non-political and non-sectarian. Besides community service and cooperation with other community agencies, Lions Clubs are based upon good fellowship and social life.

The Lions Club of Decatur was founded in October, 1919, and has made a fine record for itself in community activities in Decatur.

LIONS CLUB OBJECTS

To create and foster a spirit of "generous consideration among the peoples of the world through a study of the problems of international relationships from the standpoint of business and professional ethics."

•

To promote the theory and practice of the principles of good government and good citizenship.

•

To take an active interest in the civic, commercial, social and moral welfare of the community.

•

To unite the members in the bonds of friendship, good fellowship, and mutual understanding.

•

To provide a forum for the full and free discussion of all matters of public interest: partisan politics and sectarian religion alone excepted.

•

To encourage efficiency and promote high ethical standards in business and professions, provided that no club shall hold out as one of its objects financial benefits to its members.

LIONS CLUB

1955-1956

YEARBOOK

THE LIONS' CODE OF ETHICS

1. To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

2. To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

3. To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

4. Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

5. To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing, but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

6. Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them any unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

7. To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

8. To be careful with my criticism and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

LIONS CLUB

1955-1956

YEARBOOK

YOUR LIONS CLUB

In 1914, Melvin Jones, a successful Chicago insurance agent, started upon a plan to organize local business men's clubs into an international group for the primary purpose of community service. Lions International was then formally founded in 1917 by Melvin Jones, and their first annual convention was held in Dallas, Texas, that year with about twenty-five clubs attending. Today we boast of being the largest service club, operating in 60 different countries or geographical locations, with a membership in excess of 502,000.

The membership is entirely by invitation and drawn from the community's leading business and professional men. Lions Clubs are non-political and non-sectarian. Besides community service and cooperation with other community agencies, Lions Clubs are based upon good fellowship and social life.

The Lions Club of Decatur was founded in October, 1919, and has made a fine record for itself in community activities in Decatur.

•

To promote the theory and practice of the principles of good government and good citizenship.

•

To take an active interest in the civic, commercial, social and moral welfare of the community.

•

To unite the members in the bonds of friendship, good fellowship, and mutual understanding.

•

To provide a forum for the full and free discussion of all matters of public interest: partisan politics and sectarian religion alone excepted.

•

To encourage efficiency and promote high ethical standards in business and professions, provided that no club shall hold out as one of its objects financial benefits to its members.

LIONS CLUB

1956-1957

YEARBOOK

THE LIONS' CODE OF ETHICS

1. To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

2. To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self-respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

3. To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

4. Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

5. To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

6. Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them any unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

7. To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

8. To be careful with my criticism and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

YEARBOOK

YOUR LIONS CLUB

In 1914, Melvin Jones, a successful Chicago insurance agent, started upon a plan to organize local business men's clubs into an international group for the primary purpose of community service. Lions International was then formally founded in 1917 by Melvin Jones, and their first annual convention was held in Dallas, Texas, that year with about twenty-five clubs attending. Today we boast of being the largest service club, operating in 60 different countries or geographical locations, with a membership in excess of 502,000.

The membership is entirely by invitation and drawn from the community's leading business and professional men. Lions Clubs are non-political and non-sectarian. Besides community service and cooperation with other community agencies, Lions Clubs are based upon good fellowship and social life.

The Lions Club of Decatur was founded in October, 1919, and has made a fine record for itself in community activities in Decatur.
